As you may know, my (daughter), (Jilly), was diagnosed with a devastating neurological disorder called Rett syndrome (RTT) which primarily affects females leaving them 100% dependent on others for every single basic need. (Jilly) does not walk, talk, use her hands or eat by mouth. She experiences breathing and sleep irregularities as well as seizures. (Jilly) is an absolutely beautiful little girl who is happy and proves to us everyday she can learn, live, love and be loved. She is an inspiration to us all. Despite how serious and devastating this disorder is, there IS hope. Hope that one day these symptoms may be reversed. There is exciting research that is heading in that direction. There is a promising future for these girls and women. In 2007 it was proven in an animal model that RTT can be REVERSED...we now need to translate that from a mouse to a human...but many prominent researchers and scientists feel this IS possible. How can YOU help?

Pepsi is so generously and graciously donating millions of dollars to important causes in place of ads during the Super Bowl!

Remarkably, the International Rett Syndrome Foundation (IRSF) was selected as one of the potential organizations to receive a $250,000 donation! And the INCREDIBLE thing about is that for IRSF it means $500,000! Because for IRSF, all "NEW" donations will be matched through an amazingly charitable grant given by the Pioneer Fund of Colorado!
