

Research Abstracts

Previous Grants Awarded

G.E.A.R.

Grants of Excellence to Accelerate Rett Research

The Grants of Excellence to Accelerate Rett Research (G.E.A.R.) are awarded at the discretion of the IRSF Board of Trustees to outstanding investigators who have shown a commitment to Rett Syndrome research. The aim of the G.E.A.R. is to accelerate ongoing research in key labs by injecting financial resources.

Click here for the press release.

Click here for Awardee abstracts.

NIH Partnership

Research Awards

Click here for Awardee abstracts.

2012

Research Awards

Click here for Awardee abstracts.

2011

Research Awards

Click here for Awardee abstracts.

2010

Research Awards

Click here for Awardee abstracts.

2009

Research Awards

Click here for Awardee abstracts.

2008

Research Awards

Click here for Awardee abstracts.

2007

Research Awards

Click here for Awardee abstracts.

2006

Research Awards

Click here for Awardee abstracts.

2005

Research Awards

Click here for Awardee abstracts.

2004

Research Awards

Click here for Awardee abstracts.

2003

The Rett Syndrome Research Foundation Commits $1.3 Million for 2003 Research Awards

The Rett Syndrome Research Foundation (RSRF) has awarded $1.3 million to fund 13 cutting edge projects seeking improved understanding of this debilitating neurological disorder diagnosed almost exclusively in little girls.

Click here for Awardee abstracts.

2002

Research Awards

Click here for Awardee abstracts.

2001

Research Awards

Click here for Awardee abstracts.

2000

Research Awards

Click here for Awardee abstracts.